University

\yü-ne-ver-se-te\
noun
Def: an institution of learning of the highest level, having a college of liberal arts and a program of graduate studies together with several professional schools, and authorized to confer both undergraduate and graduate degrees

McKendree's shift from college to university proved to be one of the biggest highlights of the 2007-2008 Academic Year. What better term to represent the most exciting portion of the yearbook, the highlights section, in which the most anticipated events of the year are recorded. From the beginnings at New Student Orientation all the way to Commencement in May, McKendree provides its community with exciting events in the lives of members of the campus community. These all take place at this institution of learning in the highest level. McKendree has expanded its boundaries in terms of education, yet these crucial moments during the school year remain.

Highlights

McKendree College becomes

Illinois' oldest college & newest university

The 2007-2008 academic world welcomed a new name as McKendree College, the first college chartered and established in the state of Illinois, became McKendree University. July 1, 2007 marked a new era in McKendree history after 179 years as McKendree College. Officially, McKendree became Illinois' oldest college and newest university. McKendree President Dr. Jim M. Dennis announced, "Our board of trustees directed us to change our name to reflect more accurately the broad educational opportunities McKendree offers."

Founded in 1828 by pioneer Methodists as Lebanon Seminary, McKendree is the oldest institution in the nation with continuous ties to the United Methodist Church. A grand total of 72 students were enrolled in classes in 1828, and classes were held in two rented sheds. McKendree now has a current population of nearly 1400 undergraduate students taking classes at the Main Campus in Lebanon, Illinois. McKendree is also proud to offer new graduate programs in education, professional counseling, business administration and nursing, home to about 950 graduate students composing one quarter of the student population. McKendree had previously offered post-graduate degrees starting in 1828 but discontinued this program in 1905. Other McKendree campuses are located in Louisville and Radcliff Kentucky, Scott AFB and several other small locations in central Illinois.

In addition to the increase in population, McKendree boasts new state of the art facilities, including the Marion K. Piper Academic center, built in 2000 and the Hettenhausen Center for the Arts, which opened in 2006. Offering a broad range of disciplines with 39 majors, McKendree University is comprised of a School of Business, a School of Nursing and Health Professions, a School of Education, and the McKendree College of Arts and Sciences. "Changing our name to McKendree University is not a revolutionary change. It is an evolution, and in an important sense a return to our heritage," said President Dennis when he announced the name change. "With the growth of program offerings, new facilities and enrollment, we have evolved into a university, and now our name will reflect that."

McKendree Builds the World's Largest "U"!
On August 27, 2007, over 400 students, faculty, staff and alumni gathered to form the world's largest "U" for the Guinness Book of Records. Campus Activities Director Craig Robertson and Seniors Bobby Andrews, Erin Coble and Samantha Quick make sure that everything runs smoothly before and during NSO weekend.

New Student Orientation is an important part of getting acquainted with McKendree University. This year's incoming class numbered 307 students. These students came from 11 states and 10 countries. The first-year students also boasted an amazing academic record with an average ACT score of 24 and an average GPA of 3.5.

During NSO first-year students enjoy four days of introductory activities including bowling, a book discussion and break out sessions on various aspects of college life including religious life, student affairs and information technology.

First-year student Melissa Funk said "I really enjoyed NSO weekend. It gave me a chance to meet many of the people that I would be in class with. The "Into the Streets" project was as fun as it was educational. It was a good feeling knowing that I helped someone."

Ubiquity

\yu-bi-kew-te\
noun
Def: the state or capacity of being everywhere, especially at the same time; omnipresence

Students at McKendree come from a variety of backgrounds; their interests and involvement on and around campus vary. So, what exactly do students do when they are not in class or working on endless assignments? Whether students choose to spend their spare time playing frisbee in the quad, volunteering at a local school, gallivanting around St. Louis or sipping coffee in Lebanon, they live it up. While the interests of students on campus vary so much, all of these activities occur simultaneously. By taking a look out of a Holman Library's second floor window, relaxing in PAC lounge, or walking up and down the residence halls, the wide variety of activities comprising student life at McKendree is obvious and welcome.

In addition, families also enjoyed the annual Murder Mystery Dinner. Not only was this a wonderful form of entertainment, but guests were incorporated in the performance.

The tailgate party before the football game has become a McKendree Tradition. Activities included inflatable carnival games, photo opportunities with Bogey and musical entertainment provided by Dixie Express.

Spring Fling

April 19, 2008

As spring fever begins to take over campus, Campus Activities Board (CAB) has the perfect solution - Spring Fling. This annual event is the perfect way to spend a Saturday afternoon. This year's event featured food, games, live music, a petting zoo and a new event called "Chalk the Circle." Artists of all skill levels were invited to decorate the concrete surrounding circle drive with sidewalk chalk drawings. Prizes were awarded for Best Mural, People's Choice and Most Unique. An interesting aspect to Spring Fling is that many Registered Student Organizations (RSOs) use Spring Fling as a fundraiser. Every RSO that helped out was given at least $150 from CAB. Spring Fling is the last major social event on campus before graduation.

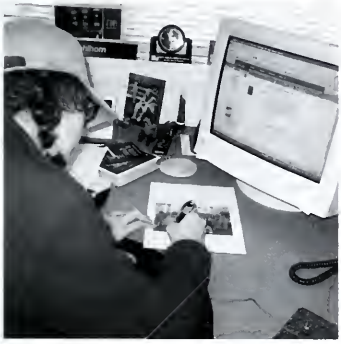
Utilization

\yü-te-le-za-shen\
noun
1. the act of using [syn: use]
2. the state of having been made use of

Students place themselves in an academic environment in which they work rigorously so that they can utilize the information, skills, and experience they take away from the classroom and other educational experiences while at McKendree. They utilize what they learn in their daily lives and await the time when they can use their gifts and talents in future professions. The academic environment causes them to utilize their brains, and deep down inside, they know that this will be of great use in the future. The Honors Societies and academic-related groups show excellence in various fields. Here's to them and here's to the faculty who make it possible.



Academics

Phi Kappa Phi

Phi Kappa Phi, the oldest and most selective all-discipline honor society, is in its fifth year at McKendree. This honor society recognizes outstanding academic achievement of the top 7.5 percent of students with junior status and the top 10 percent of students with senior status, along with faculty and staff members and alumni, by inviting them to join the honor society through tapping ceremonies where current members enter offices and classrooms during the Spring semester to extend the invitation to join. The Phi Kappa Phi motto "Let the Love of Learning Rule Humanity" exemplifies the dedication to learning held by McKendree faculty and students. The faculty advisor to Phi Kappa Phi is Dr. Tami Eggleston. During the April 18 induction, 107 juniors and seniors were invited to join the McKendree University chapter.

Faculty Spotlight

Dr. Patrick Folk & Dr. Feza Ozturk

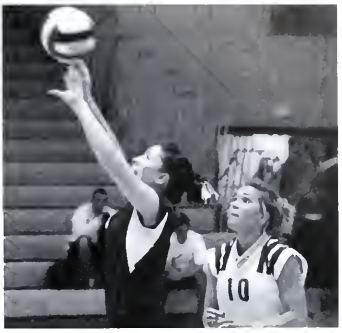
Drs. Pat Folk and Feza Ozturk have spent the past year teaching at the Ege University in Bornova, Izmir, Turkey. Both professors recieved Fulbright Scholar awards for the 2007-2008 academic year. These are very competitive and prestigious awards that allow U.S. faculty and professors to lecture and conduct research abroad. Reflecting on his trip Dr. Folk stated, "A year in Turkey, interacting with students and colleagues whose cultural, linguistic, and religious backgrounds are quite different from my own, will make me a far better teacher when I get back to McKendree." Dr. Folk and Dr. Ozturk have both been to Turkey before as Dr. Ozturk is a native of Turkey. Their 16-year old son Eddie accompanied them on their trip.

Dr. Phil Whilhelm

Dr. Phil Wilhelm wrote "God Is Still Speaking" in 2004 to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the United Church of Christ. The song encourages people to hold on to their faith during troubled times. His song was recorded and will be included on the CD titled "Light of the World," which is a compilation of Gospel songs. The CD is currently in the production phase and should be released in the summer of 2008. The following words are the chorus to his song "God is still speaking to you and to me, do we fervently listen or beg our own way? God is still speaking to you and to me, in the midst or life's questions God shows us the way."

Uniform

\yü-ne-form\
adjective
Def: identical or consistent, as from example to example, place to place, or moment to moment: uniform spelling; a uniform building code.
noun
Def: an identifying outfit or style of dress worn by the members of a given profession, organization, or rank.



Whether on the court, the field, the mat, the lanes or the track McKendree athletes proudly wear the Bearcat uniform. This uniform unites individuals as a team. Many become one as they fight for a common cause. Whether the result is victory or learning from defeat, we applaud our athletes and coaches for their dedication. Whether playing at home or away, the basketball court still has two hoops, the hockey rink and soccer field have two goals, and the starting softball line up has nine players. Three games to a match in volleyball, and a starting score of love-love in tennis. The uniformity of sports teaches players discipline and provides a common ground.

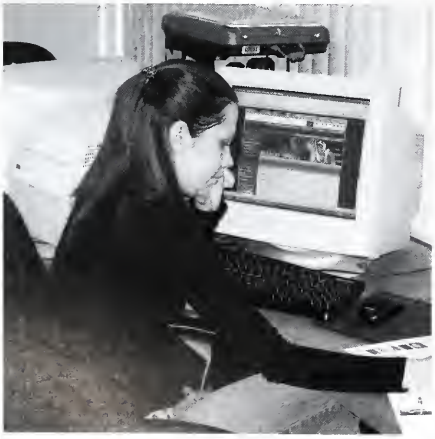
Yearbook

Capturing Memories for 91 Years

The Three Musketeers
Seniors Beth Newman and Sarah Haas and junior Lauren Hettenhausen dedicate themselves to working on the yearbook.

The Yearbook staff worked diligently from before the start of the academic year to after graduation to put together the 91st Volume of The McKendrean yearbook. The theme for this year, A Whole New U, was inspired by McKendree's name change from McKendree College to McKendree University. This book was driven by the efforts of many, including Advisor Jeff Campbell, Co-Editors Beth Newman and Lauren Hettenhausen and student worker Sarah Haas. Many staff members and others in the McKendree community contributed to the completion of the book. Staff members attempted to capture the essence of this year at McKendree through photo and copy, highlighting special events and recognizing students, faculty, teams, and groups in various ways. Newman stated, "I enjoy working with and getting to know so many people through working on the Yearbook staff. I also feel that I have gained many skills that I can use in my classroom. I hope to continue using my skills once I begin teaching by working on a school yearbook in a school that I teach at."

Work it!
Senior Sarah Haas works at the Alumni House on yearbook endeavors. While looking back on working on the yearbook, she commented. "The most enjoyable part of being on the yearbook staff is the end result. Flipping through the finished product for the first time makes all the long hours worth it."



Teamwork is Key!
Sophomore Jenn Berkemann, senior Sarah Haas, junior Lauren Hettenhausen, and fearless leader Jeff Campbell gather to work on yearbook pages. Jeff asserted, regarding the yearbook's importance, "T Yearbook is a vital link to the history of this institution. Throughout the year we have so many descendants of our alumni contact us for information about their relative, wanting to know all we can tell them. Our first source for information is the yearbook."

As events unfold each year on campus, the McKendree Review is there to capture them. Anyone on campus is welcome to submit a story to the Review, but there are staff writers and photographers who consistantly showcase their talent for reporting and capturing the news. A team of editors then looks over all the stories and photos submitted and puts together the final product which is distributed on campus every other week.

McKendree's Literary Interest Society, known as LIS, became a common sight on campus this year. Led by President Kendra Sigafoos, LIS attracted members from many different areas, but most specifically students and faculty members involved in the English field. LIS sponsored many bake sales and used book sales throughout the year. They hosted a Halloween event, where spooky readings were performed by various members. Also, they hosted the first Poetry Slam at the Sweeter House of Coffee in Downtown Lebanon. Additionally, LIS sponsored a make your own valentine table, where students could come to put together last minute Valentine's Day gifts, including candy, flowers and lovely poems the were perfect for a sweetheart or friend. The group's fundraisers went toward the cost of their group trip to Chicago where they attended a production of Shakespeare's Othello and toured the Chicago Art Institute.

McK Radio

The McK Radio club was established this year. It is a student-run organization dedicated to bringing informative and interesting online broadcasts to the McKendree community and the entire world. Students wrote, produced and broadcasted programs each week throughout the academic year.

Environmental Awareness Committee

The Environmental Awareness Committee was established to help the campus community to reduce, reuse and recycle. In addition to sponsoring contests to encourage paper recycling, the committee encouraged computer and electronics recycling. During Earth Day celebrations, the committee sponsored a week of activities aimed at creating an environmental consciousness on campus.

Unique

\yu-nek\
adjective
Def: 1. existing as the only one or as the sole example; single; solitary in type or characteristics
2. having no like or equal; unparalleled; incomparable

McKendree University is home to 1787 undergraduate students and 960 graduate students. No two are alike; each is unique in his or her own way. Though we share common interests and the common bond as McKendree students, we are all different. We bring something special to the campus through our diversity, which, in turn, yields something entirely beautiful. Not only are we unique in regard to inner characteristics, but we are unique in appearance as well.

Useful

\yüs-fel\
adjective
Def: 1. being of use or service; serving some purpose; advantageous, helpful, or of good effect.
2. of practical use, as for doing work; producing material results; supplying common needs

Commercials, billboards, and endorsements bombard us in many ways everyday. The world of advertising continually surrounds us. At times, it opens our eyes to the otherwise unknown. Yet, when abused and overused, advertising can also be a constant pollutant of our natural environment. It has the ability to leave us with a lasting impression, especially the advertising in this book. Advertising can be a good thing to have. It exposes its audience to products and services of which it might otherwise be unaware. Plus, possibly more importantly, from a Yearbook Staff perspective, advertising helps raise funds to produce the book, an everlasting impression of McKendree University during the 2007-2008 academic year.

Beth -

You have always given your full effort and put your heart into everything you attempt. That is what has made you successful this far in your life. Now as you begin a new adventure, your commitment and your passion for learning will make you an excellent model for the young children you will teach. Your faith has given you much strength along the way. Continue to put your trust in God and he will walk with you on all of your journeys wherever they may take you.

We wish you happiness always.

All our love,

Mom and Dad

They who dream by day are cognizant of many things which escape those who dream by night.

- Edgar Alan Poe

Jayme, I remember years ago you painting this quote on your bedroom wall, not knowing at the time how appropriate it was.

Your dreams and hard work have gotten you where you are. The years you've spent at McK have been a wonderful time in your life. You've experienced your 13th year of band, your 21st birthday, moving truckloads of furniture back and forth every semester, 1/2 price appetizers at Applebee's, sledding on the golf course, midterms, mountains of papers, ice storms, power outages, your trip to England, movie marathons, a tornado, "the deer" and your little blue car, and oh yeah, an English degree.

The people you've met during your time at McKendree have been a true blessing and many have become your second family. Keep those people close to your heart; they've played a part in who you are.

So as you move on to the next chapter, remember those who have loved, supported, and encouraged you along the way... and always remember where your story began. We're so very proud of you.

Love,
Mom, Dad and Jared

It's been another fast four years... well, really, a fast twenty-one years. Thank you! Thank you! Thank you, Lauren! You have brought us immeasureable joy and happiness. We are so very proud of you for so many reasons. Dad says, "Be good, behave, have fun." Mom says, "Dig in, sweetie! It's a wonderful life."

Love you always,
Always there -
Mom, Dad & Matthew

Gary,

Words cannot describe how proud we are of all you've accomplished! We have thoroughly enjoyed watching you become the person you are! We love you from the bottom of our hearts! Thanks for all the fun!

Love always,
Mom & John

You were our miracle baby.

You've always been our drama queen.

You've met or introduced everyone from NASA astronaunt Sandra Magnus, to Congressman Jerry Costello to former Vice President and Nobel Prize Winner Al Gore to United States Senator Ted Kennedy.

You were a Mighty Maroon for your work in chemistry.

We had to deal with your experiments in our kitchen.

You've studied in Japan and Spain, and you've traveled the country winning countless awards for the McKendree Speech & Debate Team

You double majored in biology and political science and managed to carry a 4.0. You were president of Student Government Association, one of the captains of the Speech & Debate Team, and the sports editor of the McKendree Review, not to mention numberous other activities. You were recognized as McKendree's Lincoln Laureate for the 2007-2008 year. Your love for international politics shines through every time you give an extemp speech, so it's no surprise that you're going to law school next year to study international law. But where will you go next?

Love - Mom & Dad

I pray God's blessings and guidance
be with you as you continue on your journey.

All my love always, Mom

Jacob,

You know you're blessed when you have a son you really believe in-when you look at him and see, above all else, the talent and the determination to accomplish whatever he puts his heart and his mind to.

That's the kind of son we have in you, and if we could wish just one thing for you on your graduation, it would be this:
May you always believe in yourself the way we believe in you.

We love you very much, Bubba,
Mom and Dad

McKendree University

Notes from the Editors

This has been an interesting and very packed year. It feels like just yesterday that I began my final year at the new McKendree University. With student teaching during second semester, I felt uneasy about having time to get everything done. Together we managed and actually got the book most of the way done before the year ended.

Looking back, I realize that this book has brought many relationships and opportunities that I would not have, had I not become involved. I have come to know more people at McKendree than I thought I would. These relationships have helped me become a stronger leader. I hope to take the many skills that I learned throughout the years of working on Yearbook with me into my teaching career. Never know, having a Yearbook background just might put me on top of the stack for an interview.

I would like to personally thank Jeff Campbell, Lauren Hettenhausen, Sarah Haas and Tina Napper- without all of us working together we could have never accomplished another outstanding book. We almost finished everything before graduation, I think it might be a record! I think that we have improved our work output greatly. My best wishes go out to the 2007-2008 staff in their future endeavors and good luck to the 2008-2009 staff!

Beth Newman

Looking back at the 2007-2008 McKendree University yearbook, it is hard to see where the time has gone. As I am writing this note, I have just finished my last exam of the Spring 2008 semester, and we are close to completing the yearbook. (Hooray!) It seems like it was only yesterday that we began preparation for this book in early Fall 2007, discussing theme and cover options. These first decisions not only set the tone for the book but also set the tone for remainder of the year. Collaboration on topics, paired with the divide and conquer method, allowed for everyone to take an active role in the completion of this book.

The publication of volume 91 of the McKendrean marks my second year as a co-editor, and therefore second year that I am able to whole-heartedly thank co-editor Beth Newman, yearbook student worker Sarah Haas, proofreader Tina Napper, and yearbook advisor Jeff Campbell. They poured their hearts into yearbook endeavors and really took the initiative needed to successfully complete this book. I would also like to sincerely thank the rest of the yearbook staff for the time, effort, and dedication that they put into the production of the 2007-2008 yearbook. Though it is not a simple task, we worked together to get the job done. Working on a staff like this is a great life lesson in teamwork, dedication, and organization. To be quite honest, there is no way to do it alone. Thanks to everyone who made this possible, especially those of you who kept me on my toes and kept the production of this book rolling.

At one of our infamously fun workdays, I heard that the question of whether McKendree needed a yearbook at all had been raised in the University's administration; it was suggested that the yearbook be replaced with electronic storage of photos and news. While technology allows us to do great things, I would suggest that electronic storage is a great partner for the traditional yearbook rather than an easy replacement. There is no doubt that the yearbook is a great deal of work, but in the long run, I strongly believe that all of the work is worth it. There is just something refreshingly antiquated about looking through a yearbook; because of this, I am proud to call myself a member of the yearbook staff. Regardless of the future of the yearbook as we know it, I am thankful for the opportunity to have worked with a fantastic group of people on McKendree University's first, and hopefully not last, yearbook.
